SMITH & HINKLEY.
Titusville, September 22, 1866.

Titusville Morning Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith's Headaches.

"Such a headache as I have!" groaned Smith, as he entered the breakfast-room, with his hair rumpled, his chest collapsed, and his back rounded out in the shape of the letter C. "Such a headache!"

"Perhaps it was the cake you ate before going to bed," remarked his wife, as she poured the coffee.

"Cake? there's nothing more wholesome than cake before going to bed, especially plum-cake," answered Smith, dropping into a chair.

Mrs. Smith feeling indisposed at that matitudinal hour for an argument, assented.

"Try a little tea," suggested she.

"Tea! an old maid's remedy; no tea for me."

"Well, coffee."

"I don't think I want anything," groaned Smith. "Oh, dear! I'm going to have a day of it!"

Mrs. Smith had it on her tongue's end to say: "Well, that is the usual result of a night of it;" but she closed her teeth and bit off the exasperating and truthful rejoinder.

"Isn't this room awful hot?" asked Smith, opening six doors, without waiting for her reply, which, if uttered, would have been that she was shivering with the draughts.

Then seating himself at the table: "I think I will have tea, Mrs. Smith; it will be sure to upset or cure me; it don't matter which," he adds, with a despairing groan; "and I may as well eat a piece of beefsteak, while I'm about it—'in for a penny, in for a pound;' oh, dear!"

"I think I'll come and sit in your room, Mary," said Smith to his wife after the tea and breakfast had gone down. "It looks nice and pleasant here, and I like to stay with you when I have the headache."

Mary turned her back, that he need not see the smile lurking round her mouth at the conclusion of his sentence, and brought a pillow to the sofa for his disorganized head.

"Not that—no, not that; it will only heat my head, oh, dear Mary, (solemnly,) do you know I think I made a mistake in eating that beefsteak."

Mary, with a heroism which should place her name in "Fox's Book of Martyrs," did not reply.

"I knew it at the time, Smith, and my only chance of preventing you from eating was to refrain from asking you not to eat; so I didn't say so."

"Mary," said Smith, as she seated herself to her sewing, "don't you think I should feel better if I had a jug of boiling water at my feet?"

"Perhaps you would," said Mary, dropping her spools and thimble and buttons on the floor to hunt up the jug and hot water herself, for Smith had the opinion that a wife should attend personally to these things, although three great fat servants might sit sucking their thumbs in the kitchen and cooking their heels on the range.

"Perhaps you would."

"Mary," asked Smith, after this arrangement was carried out, "don't you think this bottle might be pushed a little closer? I don't feel it, except on one foot?"

"Yes," said Mary, dropping her work once more. "Is that right?"

"Oh-h, yes," answered Smith, rolling his left eye in ecstasy, as the heat permeated the sole of his off foot; "how nice it is to have you round when I am sick."

The same funny look came again round the corners of Mary's mouth, but Smith, bless his obtuse soul, didn't see it.

"Mary," said Smith, "I think I could go to sleep now if you would close those curtains and things, and carry that d—d bird down stairs, and shut out the light."

"Yes," said Mary, "and I'll take my sewing in the next room."

"Do," said Smith.

And gathering up her work-basket and Smith's pants, that had several vital buttons missing, and which he wished replaced, Mary departed.

"Mary," said Smith, suddenly appearing at the door of the room where she had seated herself, with his hair rampant, and blanket shawl sticking to his back, "its no use. I don't feel a bit better. I'm sure I don't know what to do. Do you really think it was the cake?"

Mary's patience was waning. "I know it, John—it always makes you sick. Don't you recollect I asked you not to eat it at the time?"

"Well, all I can say is," said Smith, "I don't believe it. Oh dear, where are the morning papers?"

That was another way of asking Mary to read them to him, which she did, and without saying, as Smith did on similar occasions:

"Oh, there is nothing in the paper this morning but the same old tariff discussions; in fact, they are quite dull—here they are—perhaps you can pick out something for yourself."

Blessed be the Lord! At twelve, Smith sank into the arms of Morpheus, and slept till three; but alas! waking, begged for his wife and a washbowl. Both were forthcoming, as also the expected result. The rest of the day, till dark, the blinds were opened and shut; the bottle of hot water on and off duty, and Mrs. Smith stayed by to see him be sick. About seven in the evening he despatringly signified his wish to retire, adding:

"I suppose, of course, you don't feel sleepy at all?"

"N-o," said Mary, looking from the window at a lovely moon that was just rising, "N-o, not very."

"Well," said Smith; "don't come, if you don't want to, but I can't sit up any longer, and I have an idea I shall get to sleep."

So Mary went to bed with her bearded baby.

A week had elapsed. Smith was in good health and spirits. He could smoke. The world wasn't a charnel-house, after all. Mary was flat on her back with a nervous headache.

"Sick?" asked Smith.

"Shocking pain in my temples," said Mary.

"What a pity!" answered Smith, paring his nails at the window, without turning his head. "It's going to be such a lovely day—quite like spring. Have you the least idea where my gray pants are?"

"No," said Mary, faintly, from the pillows. "I think in the closet."

"So—strange," said Smith, "about those gray pants; I don't think they've worn very well—do you? And do you know, Mary, about the milk bill, whether it is right or not? and, by the way, did my shoes come home last night? and has that man been to fix the front door?"

"My head aches so bad," said Mary, "that I can't remember any thing. Biddy will tell you."

"Well, I'm sorry for you," said Smith, tying his cravat at the glass. "The very best thing for you is to keep quiet, and I'll take myself off out of the way. Sleep is the thing for you." So Smith put on his heaviest pair of boots, and went all over the house, and let the doors bang, and whistled the "Stars and Stripes," and ate his breakfast, and then came up to her to discuss the respective claims of pork and beef and chicken for that day's dinner, closing by another recommendation to keep quiet, and not bother herself about any thing.

"No better?" asked Smith, reproachfully, at six o'clock that evening; "no better? I thought you'd be well, certainly, by this time, after a day's quiet." Quiet? She had had the whole kitchen retinue after her all day, asking more questions than there are in the assembly's catechism; and the front door bell ringing as if by order of the fire department; but she said nothing about that: if she had, Smith would have replied, with that lordly wave of his hand with which men dispose of such matters: "You shouldn't allow such trifles to trouble you."

"No better, then?" Smith inquired, as if in gratitude to him he really deserved a modification of her former reply—"no better? Well, sleep, after all, is the best thing; and, as I can't do anything for you, I think as it is such a lovely night that I will stroll out awhile. There, there," said he, patting the end of the bed-blanket, "go to sleep now." And close upon his retiring heels she heard the thundering bang of the front door.

After divers and many comparisons between male and female headaches, and the seeming incongruity on the male mind of the same course of treatment for both, Mrs. Smith fell asleep, to be awoke about twelve by Smith who thumped up stairs in his boots, made a raid after the corkscrew in the closet, and a particular tumbler of a particular shape he wanted in connection with it; and advised her again as to the efficiency of sleep, in cases of female headache; then filled the house with the nauseating fumes of tobacco, at an hour when it was impossible to air it. Then—Smith went to bed, and slept the sleep of the just, with not a glimmering of an idea that he was not the unselfishest and lovingest of husbands. Indeed, had his wife questioned it, he would have pointed her to that column in the daily papers where accounts are given of husbands who make it a practice to crack their wives skulls once a week; and placing his arms akimbo with a stern look, would have asked her with his nose close to her face:

"What if she had such a husband as that?"

FANNY FERN.

How Dr. Livingstone was Killed.

Official information of the death of Dr. Livingstone has been received at the British Foreign Office. He was slain during a sudden and unprovoked encounter with the very Zulus, of whom, in the last dispatch received from him (dated Ngnoma, May 18th) he said that they had laid waste the country round about him. With an escort reduced to twenty by desertions, death and dismissals, he had traversed, terra incognita, between the confluence of the Leonede and Rovuma rivers at Ngomano and the eastern and northeastern shore of Lake Nyassa, had crossed the lake at some point not yet ascertained and reached a station named Kampunda, on its western or northwestern shore, and was pushing westward or northwestward into dangerous ground, when between Marenga and Makisoora a band of implacable savages stopped the way, a mixed herd of Zulus or Mafite and Nyassa folk. The Nyassa folk were armed with bow and arrow. The Zulus with the traditional shield, broad-bladed spears and axes. With Livingstone there were nine or ten musketeers; his Johanna men were resting with their loads far in the rear.

The Mafite instantly came on to fight. There was no parley, no avoidance of the combat. They came on with a rush, with war cries, rattling their shields, with their spears. As Livingstone and his party raised their pieces the onset was for a moment checked. Livingstone fired, and two Zulus were shot dead. His boys fired, but their fire was harmless. He was in the act of reloading, when three Mafites leapt upon him through the smoke. There was no resistance, there could be none; one axe cut from behind put him out of life. He fell, and his terror-stricken escort fled. One of the fugitives escaped, and tells the tale—Ali Moosa, chief of his escort of porters.

"One blow killed Dr. Livingstone outright. He had no other wound but this terrible gash. From the description it must have gone through the neck and spine up to the throat in front. It had nearly decapitated him. Death came mercifully in its suddenness. The Mafite had respected him when dead, for he was stripped only of his outer clothing. A grave was dug with sticks and the body buried."

How Surratt Lives.

A correspondent writes as follows in regard to the nature of Surratt's confinement:

Many poor prisoners, whose crimes are scarcely worth mention in comparison with the great crime associated with Surratt's name, would rejoice could their lifetime be spent as comfortably as are the prison hours of this universally accursed assassin. An entire corridor, full thirty feet in length and eight in breadth, with three large cells, are placed entirely at his disposal. In this corridor he is excluded from the gaze of the common prisoners and the curious visitors by a tight door, closing within the usual door or iron grating, whenever it is not agreeable to him to seek the open air of the prison court yard. At night only does he have occasion to feel the rigors of confinement, when he is located in the central of the three cells, a commodious apartment at least ten feet square. True, the furniture is scarce, consisting merely of a stool and a mattress laid upon the stone floor, though amply provided with coverings.

To while away the sometimes tedious hours of the day, he is provided with a plentiful assortment of books, embracing the field of literature from the Divine truth to the silliest human trash. Comforts, and even luxuries for the toilet, are also abundant. His cuisine seems to be carefully looked after by outside friends, and no restriction is placed upon the amount or variety that is sent to him.

The Eight Hour Law in Chicago.

There is a general movement among the employers and workingmen in Chicago, in anticipation of the enforcement of the eight hour law, which takes effect on the first of May.

There is an almost universal determination among the workingmen to insist upon an enforcement of the law, while an equally unanimous resolve is manifested among employers to resist its operation, unless wages are correspondingly reduced.

Many of the large manufacturing establishments are making arrangements to close their business in the event of a strike by their employes. They argue that they cannot compete with establishments in other parts of the country, where the eight hour law is not in existence, and they will go to those points and purchase their goods, rather than make them themselves.

All of the master builders refuse to make any contracts until this question is settled, and hence the prospect is that there will be but little building done this summer in Chicago.

UNITED STATES SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

NEW YORK, April 17.

The official correspondence between Secretary Seward, the Mexican Minister, Romero, and Don Leido de Joda, the Mexican Secretary of Foreign Relations, in reference to the reported capture and shooting by the Liberals of young Marquis de Montholon, son of the late Minister of France at Washington, has been made public. The Mexican Secretary disowns any belief in the truth of the shooting or capture of the young man.

The order of arrest in the case of Joseph B Stewart vs. Daniel Drew and Fisk & Belden, for alleged frauds in connection with the Erie pool, was vacated yesterday by Justice Barnard, of the Supreme Court, on the ground that one partner could not obtain an order of arrest against his co-partner for failure to pay over his share of the profits, and that the plaintiff's remedy is by an action for non-accounting. The condition is also stipulated that defendants are not to sue plaintiff.

RICHMOND, April 16.

The various negro societies of the city celebrated the declaration of emancipation in the District of Columbia to-day.

Several white and colored delegates to the State Convention which meets here to-morrow have arrived.

NEW YORK, April 17.

All the Southern railroads damaged by the late floods have been repaired and are now in running order from Norfolk to Newport.

A Nashville special says: The Tennessee State Conservative Convention was held in Nashville yesterday. The representation of negroes was very small, only six being present. Speeches of a most violent character, denouncing Congress and the Radical party and applauding the Confederacy, were delivered. Emerson Etheridge was nominated for Governor.

The Times special says: The appointment of L. V. Bogy, late Commissioner of Indian Affairs, as a general Indian agent to make treaties, purchase and ship supplies, &c., will be further investigated by the Senate. It turns out that in this capacity Bogy virtually assumes all the duties of the Commissioner, and that officer finds himself merely a cipher in his own duty. Bogy is now in New York making purchases of goods for the Indian service, and exercising authority for which it is alleged there is not a shadow of right and without even a record of his appointment to be found in the Indian office.

At the suggestion of Gov. Murphy, Mr. Garland has abandoned his intention to file a petition against the Reconstruction bill on behalf of Arkansas, the Governor thinking an adverse decision will result unfavorably to the interest of his constituents.

The Herald's special says: Mr. Chas. O'Connor expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied that an injunction will issue to restrain the execution of the Reconstruction measures as against the parties embraced by the Georgia bill, and declares that the Court cannot evade the question without disgrace. The Southern States, he asserts, have the same constitutional status as before the war; that to maintain that status was the object of the war, as repeatedly resolved by Congress itself, and it is idle for any person or power now to ignore that fact, as it would be to question the result.

On the other hand Mr. Caleb Cushing advances the opinion that an injunction cannot issue against the Secretary of War any more than it can against the President himself, because the official acts of the Secretary are the executive acts of the President, and the Secretary is the executive agent of the President. Hence it is that the Courts have always held that a writ of mandamus will not lie to cover the heads of any executive departments to do any act the performance of which is within their official discretion.

BUFFALO, April 17.

Bishop Timon, of this city, died last night, aged 71, after a short illness.

The weather is very warm.

A large force is working on the canal opposite here preparatory to constructing the international bridge.

WASHINGTON, April 17.

The Senate has rejected James B. Benjamin as Marshal for the Western District of Tennessee.

ST. LOUIS, April 17.

Belleville, Illinois, yesterday elected the entire Republican ticket, being a gain of the Mayor and and two Aldermen over last year.

Accounts from the Upper Missouri say the high water of the Platte River has caused great damage to the Omaha branch of the Pacific Railroad and no trains are running at present. Forty miles of the track are under water and the bridges over the North Platte and South Fork are so badly damaged as to be unsafe for crossing.

The Chicago & North Western Railroad across Iowa, is also badly damaged by the overflow and trains are unable to run.

WASHINGTON, April 17.

The Senate has confirmed Thomas Swords, George H. Crossman, David H. Vinton and Lovell H. Rousseau to be Major Generals by brevet, and James A. Congdon, Calvin Otis, Robert Patterson, John H. Geisy and Alexander Gardner to be Brigadier Generals by brevet.

The police made another descent on another gambling house last night, capturing fourteen men, checks and other apparatus.

CONCORD, N. H., April 17.

Ex-Governor Gilmore died this morning after a lingering and painful illness, aged 55.

PORTLAND, April 17.

Five thousand dollars worth of smuggled liquors and spices were seized Monday night on Peck's Island by the United States authorities.

NEW YORK, April 15.

Dr. Abrahams, who died a few days ago, left nearly his whole fortune, $3,000,000, to various charitable institutions.

Land has been purchased suitable for a new and grand theatre on the corner of Sixth Avenue and Twenty-third street.

Geo. Dawson has withdrawn from the management of the Albany Journal.

The Grand Jury have discharged Dr. Beckley and Mrs. Olve, charged with producing the Kimball abortion, the evidence being insufficient for an indictment.

J. W. Hunt, ex-Congressman, has been nominated for Postmaster of Brooklyn.

The miners' strike at Dover, N. J., has ended and all the mines are in operation. The strikers have gone to work at the old prices.

A Washington letter to the Express has a rumor that secret negotiations are going on for the annexation of Mexico to the United States. It is probably a canard.

NEW YORK, April 17.

Washington specials state that a motion will be made in the Supreme Court to-morrow to bring up the Georgia injunction case immediately by waiving the sixty days rule of the Court in relation to subpœnas.

The Philadelphia Representatives and Senator Cameron have agreed to the confirmation of the Collector of Philadelphia.

Those colored associations which did not parade yesterday afternoon are out to-day, making quite a display.

The Senate will probably pass a resolution declaring the Austrian mission not vacant.

The Secretary of the Treasury has received a telegram that the First National Bank of Selma, Alabama, a Government depository, was robbed on Monday night of $160,000.

WASHINGTON, April 17.

The leave of absence given Governor Cummings, of Colorado, on the first of December, has been extended to the 27th of April, because of the necessity of his attendance in Washington relative to the Indian affairs of Colorado.

The President to-day replied to the resolution of the Senate calling for copies of any official opinions which have been given by the Attorney General, the Solicitor of the Treasury, or any other officer of the Government, on the interpretation of the act of Congress regulating the tenure of office, especially in regard to appointments by the President during the recess of Congress. This resolution having been referred to the Secretary of the Interior, Secretary of State, Secretary of War, Secretary of the Navy, Attorney General and Post Master General, they severally report that they have given no opinion upon the subject. The Secretary of the Treasury, however, in his reply, submits a transcript of a letter addressed to him by the Solicitor of that Department, together with his reply. These contain all the information he has upon the subject.

CHICAGO, April 17.

The Richmond House was sold at auction today. D. J. Lake purchased it for $88,000.

A special from Des Moines, Iowa, says the Des Moines river is rising rapidly and doing great damage. A large portion of the city is under water. The bridge on Court avenue was carried away this morning, with two men, who were on the piers.

The Democratic ticket, with the exception of two Aldermen, was elected at Quincy yesterday.

TROY, April 17.

Lake Champlain is open and steamers will commence their regular trips to-morrow.

ALBANY, April 17.

The Assembly has requested the Superintendent of the Banking Department to enquire whether any savings bank in this State has expended a larger sum than its surplus on hand in the erection of a banking house.

A bill was reported to incorporate the New York and Brooklyn Tunnel Company.

SOUTHAMPTON, April 17.

The steamer Saxonia arrived last evening.

BERLIN, April 17.

The National Constitution, so long under debate, has been adopted. The Polish members protested against the action of Parliament, and on the result being made known unanimously resigned.

Moffat's Life Pills and Phœnix Bitters

Were first used in private practice in 1825. They were introduced to the public in 1835, since which time their reputation has extended, until they have a sale in excess of all other Cathartic and Purifying Medicines.—There is hardly a family among civilized nations who have not personal evidence of their beneficial effects. Their great success is owing to their uniform reliability in cases of Constipation, Bilious and Stomach diseases, whether of long or short duration. They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and harmless to the greatest infant. One ingredient opens the pores of the skin; another is diuretic; and stimulates proper action of the kidneys; a third is emollient, loosening phlegm and humors from the lungs; other properties are warming and cathartic, and cleanse the stomach and bowels from unhealthy secretions. Their combined effect is, to regulate the impaired functions of the system, and to produce health. It is not asserted Moffat's Pills are a panacea—that they will cure all complaints—but under ordinary circumstances they may be relied upon to cure Nervous and Sick Headache, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Jaundice, Liver and Bilious Complaints, Colds, Scurvy, General Weakness, &c. They are expressly made for these diseases. Millions upon millions of cures can be cited. In no single instance has a complaint ever come to our knowledge, where they have not operated as recommended.

The printed circular around each box fully explains the symptoms and effects of each disease, specifies treatment, furnishes evidence, &c.

We boldly refer to Rev. David Elder, Franklin, N. C., who was cured of Dyspepsia. C. R. Cross, of Theolke, Ill., cured of Liver Complaint. H. Hanby, of Springfield, Pa., had Scrofula, and had to use crutches; was cured in three weeks. James D. Dolens, of Adrian, Mich., cured of Bilious Fever. Rev. Henry Graham, Presbyterian Church, Gasaquaqua, Cal., of Fever and Ague. Rev. Ed. H. May, Twenty-first New York, of Rheumatism and Piles of 15 years standing. Rev. Samuel Bowles, Editor of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, was cured of terrible Costiveness. Hon. Ed. Webber, of Rumney, N. H., of Liver Complaint, &c., &c., &c.

A Box of Moffat's Life Pills, with full circulars, &c., will be sent gratis to any Physician or Clergyman, on the receipt of two three cent postage stamps.

Moffat's Life Pills are 25 cents per box. Moffat's Phœnix Bitters, $1 per bottle. They are sold by all respectable dealers throughout the Continents and the Islands of the Ocean.

CLIMAX.

PARK'S CLIMAX SALVE, for Burns, Scalds, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Sores, Broken Breasts, Frost Bites, Chilblains, Stings, Bunions, Cuts, Swellings, &c., whether upon man or beast, is the most wonderful article ever produced. Other good actions alleviate; this cures. It allays inflammation, subdues pain, and heals without a scar. It is worth its weight in gold to any family, and should always be on hand. It is warranted to do what it says every time.

DRY GOODS AND CLOTHING.

SMALL PROFITS,

LIGHT EXPENSES AND QUICK SALES!

THE ONLY CORRECT AND CERTAIN WAY UPON WHICH TO DO A SUCCESSFUL AND LUCRATIVE BUSINESS.

THE LENO RIVALRY SYSTEM OF DOING THE

DRY GOODS AND READY-MADE CLOTHING

BUSINESS IS SCON ON ITS LAST LEGS—IT DIES HARD, BUT DIE IT MUST.

J. ULLMAN & BRO.

HAVE ALWAYS SAID THAT SUCH A PERNICIOUS JUMBLING SYSTEM MUST GIVE WAY TO PRUDENT AND HONEST DEALING, AND TO REDUCED EXPENSES.

No Store Rent, no High Expenses

Is the only system by which goods can be sold at a low profit. By complying with the above prudent management we are able to offer our immense stock of

NEW SPRING GOODS

FOR LESS MONEY THAN ANY OTHER STORE IN THIS CITY, OR ANYWHERE WEST OF NEW YORK.

Look at the list of prices for a few of our goods we offer to the public:

Best Delaines 25c per yard, Brown Shirting and Sheeting 15c to 20c per yard, Tickings, Denims and Ginghams at very low prices; Fine Alpacas, every color and shade, 50c to 65c per yard; Ladies' White Hose, 15c, 20c and 25c per pair, worth 40c, 45c and 50c; Children's Hose, all styles, 15c to 20c; Flannels 40c to 60c per yard; Shawls and Ladies' Martillas at lower prices than ever sold for.

Linen Damask Table-Covers, Napkins, Towels, Crash, Hoop Skirts, Balmoral Skirts, Linen Diaper, Swiss Lawn, Jaconet, Sanbooks, White Lawns, Brilliants, Irish Linens, Marseilles Quilts, Chambrays, etc., etc., we offer for less money than any other store West of New York.

Yankee Notions, Dress Trimmings, Velvet Ribbons, Ladies' and Children's Gloves, in large quantities and at the same rates.

Cloth, Cassimere and Silk Cloaks for Ladies, received daily from the manufacturers, only the latest styles, and at remarkably low prices.

Black Gros de Rhin, any width and any quality—cannot be surpassed in prices in New York City.

Alexander Kid Gloves and other brands at equally low figures, and thousands of other articles too numerous to mention, equally low.

OUR STOCK OF

MEN'S AND BOYS' READY-MADE CLOTHING

Cannot be surpassed in any market in quality, style and price. We sell suits, pants or vests, separate

OUR STOCK OF

GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS

Is complete, and we offer them for a lower price than any other store ever undertook to offer. Gents' and Boys' Hats in any quantity and style at equally low rates.

LAST APPEAL.

Call at our store and examine the stock, ask for the prices of goods, and we are confident you will say these goods are sacrificed. You will say these goods cannot be bought in New York for such prices. But we say they can, and be sold as low as we do. Why can we sell cheap? Because we have no expenses and buy for Cash and sell only for Cash. Our Cash system will save us from losing bad accounts, and enable us not to tuck on to our goods extra per centage for bad accounts. Come one and all, and convince yourself of the facts.

N. B.—Country Merchants and Peddlers supplied at New York Jobbing prices.

Seven-eighths of our stock has been bought within two weeks at those low bankrupt prices, and have been bought for cash, which is the only way of buying cheap. Remember the

—There are several cases of small-pox in Meadville. Its citizens are to be pitied.

—There was exactly two and a half dollars net profits of the Ristori engagement at Erie on Friday last.

—The shipments of crude petroleum over the Oil Creek Railroad from Titusville yesterday reached 420 barrels.

—By a notice elsewhere it will be seen that the custom of opening the Banks in the evening is to be discontinued from this date.

—Light gravity oil sold on Pioneer Run yesterday at $2.40 delivered on the cars. This is an advance over previous prices of fifteen cents.

—The anniversary of the Baptist denomination in the United States is to be held at Chicago this year. The meeting will begin May 22d, and continue until the 30th

—The Ristori Committee of Erie realized the sum of two dollars and forty-five cents over expenses. They will probably take no more lessons in italian for the present.

—The postal contract for carrying the mail from Titusville to South West has been awarded to W. H. Caswell, at $550, the length of service being from July 1, 1867, to June 30, 1868.

—Among the bills which failed to pass both Houses of our Legislature were the act to change the rate of interest, and the act allowing interested parties to testify in court, were both lost.

—There was a heavy mud embargo on the Warren & Franklin R. R. yesterday, caused by a land slide between Irvineton and Tidioute and Tidioute and Tionesta. Passengers were boated around the break.

—Speaker Colfax is to speak in Erie next Wednesday evening. Instead of "Across the Plains," he should take for his text "The Road to the White House," as his lecture tour is a sort of an electioneering effort for the next Presidential nomination.

—Europe has three hundred and fifty-eight life insurance companies, some of which count their assets by millions of pounds. In this country, the business dates back one generation and is done by about forty-eight companies, the income of which for one year ending November 1st, 1866, was $11,500,000 or about one-fifth of the receipts of the internal revenue of the Government.

—The Council having withdrawn their opposition, the oil pipe is being laid again. It will extend a mile and a half from the wells on Church Run down the run through Perry street, across Spring to the south side of the railroad and creek, terminating at the Pithole pipe tanks. The pipe which lies on the surface will be tested this afternoon, and then put down two feet in the earth, below frost. Mr. Adams, who had charge of the Pithole pipe line, is the superintendent of this work.

—The Union Star says the Union & Titusville Railroad will be completed ready for the iron inside of six months. Nearly all the floating debt of the Company has been funded, and nearly a sufficient amount of new subscriptions secured to complete the work. Those who have the matter in hand have now some $10,000 already tied up in the road, besides about $100,000 more invested there in real estate, and it is unreasonable to suppose that so much money is to be lost or idle when the means are at command to save it

Political Corruption.

How to put a stop to legislative corruption is now the question of the day. How to break up rings, and secure personal and official integrity. Some say let every citizen who has anything at stake, attend the primary meetings and see that the best men are selected for candidates. Let them bolt their own party, when it presents an unworthy person for their suffrages. This kind of reform has been preached for years; every one assents to it, but few practice it. Others say increase the number of your legislative body—make your House to consist of six hundred, instead of one hundred members, and you diminish the chances of bribery and corruption, rings and combination. Assuredly something must be done. It has come that few bills are passed on their intrinsic merits, but men expect an equivalent in dollars and cents for their votes on the plainest matters of public justice and public expediency.

Pay them well, and they will stickle at nothing in the ministering to the rapacity of corporations, or the ambition of political aspirants. It shows a demoralized state of public opinion when a Legislature can temper with and pervert justice, and escape unscathed. The Press must scrutinize the votes of our Representatives, and hold them to a strict account of their stewardship. The people must not be kept in the dark, but fully enlightened as to the motives and considerations which have led their public servants to oppose measures of State weal and public utility, and to give their countenance to mercenary schemes and appropriations and immunities in favor of any class, section, or corporation whatsoever. If the evils of partial legislation cannot be prevented by such public vigilance, and a sound public morality, the power of special enactments must be taken away by the reservations of a new Constitution.

Register in Bankruptcy.

Chief Justice Chase continues to be deluged with letters, &c., connected with the appointments of Registers of Bankruptcy; over five hundred letters came in one day. He will first select those for the larger cities. In the city of New York there are 139 candidates. Many lawyers fail to pay the postage on their petitions and letters, and as Mr. Chase has not a franking privilege, these documents will go to the dead letter office. Eighty clerks are daily engaged, in opening the letters and classifying the applications, many of which fail to state what county, State, or Congressional district they reside in, and only one lawyer, J. A. Crain, of the 3d district, Illinois, has sent his papers in proper shape. It will be over a month before the Registers are all selected.

The regulations laid down by the Chief Justice, as to the mode of application for the office of Register, are calculated to prevent imposition. A petition signed by however respectable names, praying the appointment of Mr. So and So, and certifying in general terms to his learning, &c., will not be accepted as evidence of the facts it recites. We are all aware with what facility signers are obtained to such a paper. Fear of giving offense, a good natured disposition to accommodate in so easy a way may account for it. The Chief Justice calls for letters from prominent business men and members of the bar, separately vouching for the qualifications of the candidate. The office of Register will be one of great responsibility, calling for judicial talents and qualities, as well as business capacity. In this district he will not be idle.

American Hotel, Petroleum Centre, Pa., has changed proprietors; our friend J. E. Rowe, formerly of the Rowe House, is now doing the honors in his usual satisfactory style. See advertisement in another column.

Republican County Committee.

A meeting of the Republican County Committee was held at Meadville on Monday, pursuant to the call of the chairman, R. Lyle White. Learning that the Pettis Committee, claiming also to represent the party, had been called to meet on Tuesday, the Regular Committee adjourned over to the same hour, after appointing a committee of conference. The Pettis Committee met on the following day, and also appointed a conference committee, whereupon the following terms were agreed upon, viz.: That the primary meetings should be held on Friday, the 21st of June. That the chairman of each committee having tendered his resignation, Mr. Alfred Huldekoper should be designated as chairman, with authority to give notice of the primary meetings, and to organize the convention of Return Judges. That the selection of Senatorial Delegate should be left to Erie, and that each committee should elect two delegates to the State Judicial Convention to meet on the 21st of June. The Regular Committee accordingly appointed Col. S. B. Dick and Col. O. Keese as Delegates, and the Pettis Committee appointed Henry C. Johnson and Harvey Henderson. The two gentlemen last named are instructed to support Judge Derickson for the position vacated by Judge Woodward. Messrs. Dick and Keese are without instructions. The Cameronites will doubtless control the Judicial Convention, and the delegates appointed by the Pettis Committee base their hopes of admission upon that conclusion. We hope for a different result.

Supplementary Common School Law.

The Legislature, at the close of its session made some important changes in the Common School system of our State. For the benefit of School Directors, teachers and others, we give the important provisions of this law, which received the signature of the Governor, and is now in full force and effect:

It provides that when School Directors are unable to procure from the owner or owners of land, an eligible site for a school house, they may enter upon and occupy such land, to the extent of one acre, and the damages resulting from such occupancy to be determined by a jury of viewers; and in case the award of the viewers is confirmed by the Court, payment shall be made within thirty days, after which time collection may be made by execution, as in other cases of judgment against School Directors; and either party shall have the right to have reviewers appointed by the Court.

The same act provides for the holding of County Teachers' Institutes, to continue at least five days in each year, and appropriating out of the money in the county treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to the County Superintendent, one dollar for every three days' attendance of teachers upon the Institute, said sum to be expended in procuring the attendance and instruction of competent lecturers at said annual meeting; and for non-attendance, except for good cause, a teacher's certificate may be reduced in grade; and the time spent in attendance on the Institute, may be allowed the teacher by the Board of Directors. The Superintendent must make a full statement of the expenditures of moneys in his hands.

The act also provides for the selection of textbooks at each tri-ennial convention of directors, the same to be validated by confirmation at the annual meeting of directors and teachers, held as now provided by law, and a majority of the boards of directors of the county may at any time call a special meeting of directors, for the purpose of appointing a Committee on Textbooks, prior to the tri-ennial meeting in 1869. City and borough superintendents, in places having over 10,000 inhabitants. The act legalizes the issue of three grades of teachers' certificates the lowest called "Profe-sional," to be good for one year only; the second "Professional," which shall license the holder to teach in the county, city or borough where issued during the official term of the officer issuing it, and one year thereafter, and the third or highest grade is called a "Permanent Certificate," which must be signed by the State Superintendent. All professional certificates heretofore issued before the first Monday of June, 1866, shall cease to be valid after the first Monday of June, 1868. Any professional certificate may be renewed by the proper officer if he is satisfied that the holder is entitled to such certificate.

The act also provides that no person shall hereafter be eligible to the office of county, city or borough superintendent, in any county of this Commonwealth, who does not possess a diploma from a college legally empowered to grant literary degrees, a diploma or State certificate issued according to law by the authorities of a State normal school, a professional certificate from a county, city or borough superintendent of good standing, issued at least one year prior to the election, or a certificate of competency from the State superintendent of common schools; nor shall such person be eligible unless he has a sound moral character, and has had successful experience in teaching within three years of the time of his election: Provided, That serving as county, city or borough superintendent, shall be taken as evidence of the requisite qualifications.

Newspapers as School Exercises.—B. F. S. Griffin, a school teacher of Charlestown, Mass., has adopted the practice of requiring his scholars to select each day an item from the daily paper, fix it up to suit themselves, and read or tell it to the school. The selections are then criticised by the teacher, who is thus given an excellent opportunity of discovering the tendency of his pupils' mind. The new feature seems to be an excellent one in every way, and if the selections are judiciously made, as they would be after some practice, they cannot fail to suggest valuable facts which will be permanently remembered by the youthful mind.

Our friend Andrew Jackson, not the one still voted for at every election by those who never forget and never learn, but the gentleman who has an office on Washington street, brought into our office a few days since, some vegetables that for a time put our limited knowledge of "roots" to a decided non plus. After due consultation and Yankee questioning we learned that they must be "parsnips," for surely such monsters could not be beet, (or beaten.) If any "soft words" could "butter parsnips" those of friend Jackson when he says, "take them and try them" would.

M. J. Marion, formerly of Pithole, has just opened a Machine shop near Boyd Farm Bridge, Petroleum Centre, and in addition to repairing engines, making and mending all kinds of tools and machinery used around wells or stills, buys and sells and keeps on hand from ten to fifteen second-hand engines and boilers of all sizes—from six to twenty-six horse power. To run his machinery he has just set up the first engine used by Col. Drake in his operations on Oil Creek. It is a novelty and worth seeing. See advertisement.

The Morihan Sand Pump, advertised by us some time ago, is fast coming into general use. It is so great an improvement upon the old fashioned affair, that we cannot understand why another of the antiquated concerns should ever be used. J. Smith & Co., of Plumer, are the owners of the patent and manufacturers of the pump.

Granger & Co., under Bliss Opera House, are now retailing standard refined petroleum at forty cents per gallon.

Easter.

"Christ our Passover is sanctified for us; therefore let us keep the feast."

Hark! the Easter bells are ringing,
All the air with joy is teeming,
While the Heavenly gates are swinging
Opened by the Lord of light!
See, the earth her incense pouring,
In sweet blossoms of deep storing,
Bursting from her heart adoring
At the radiant sight.

As o'er arch of Faith supernal,
In communion eternal,
Loving spirits, ever vernal,
Wander to and fro.
They have burst their bonds of prison—
Burst their fetters natural-born,
Knowing well their Lord is risen
From earth's baleful woe.

They can see beyond the seeming,
Heaven a fact, and earth but dreaming—
All of earth that is not winging
To more purfect day.
They can tread the front of roses,
While with John each hand reposes,
On the breast which all one loves
Of their tempted way.

Lift's rock they of the platter
If the feast be there! what matter
Gold or earthen? Roses' altar
Perfume's common clay.
Prize we most the diamond's setting
Or the diamond? still forgetting
Which is gold or silver fretting
Holds its jewelled ray!

Feast of bread and wine there taking,
Every thought of earth forsaking
To our souls' eternal making,
At His board we'd stay;
Angels there shall loose our prison—
Free! from bands and spirit-shriven
We shall see our Lord is risen
Unto endless day.

Petroleum as Fuel.

It will be encouraging to oil men to learn that a home demand for their production will be made very shortly which will warrant the development of our oil fields. Scientific and mechanical men have for years been engaged in devising an apparatus for using petroleum as fuel in generating steam. We have lately described the patent of one of our citizens obtained for that purpose, and we will now give the result of some important experiments of this character, made at the United States Navy Yard, Boston, under Government supervision. It is conceded on all hands that the introduction of oil as fuel will save to the mechanical manufacturing interests of the United States alone $30,000,000 annually, if adopted wherever steam is generated and fire expensive. It is estimated, also that the fuel, necessary for generating steam costs $60,000,000, and over one-half of that is lost in smoke. Now, if we can make a saving of one-half by using oil, it is evident that there can be no beetter or more legitimate business than oil production. The following letter from G. B. N. Tower, Esq, formerly Chief Engineer, United States Navy, under whose superintendence the experiments at Boston are being carried, on will interest many of our readers, whose attention has been strongly devoted to this subject:

Boston, April 6th, 1867.

Dear Sir—Some weeks since you requested me to give you a statement of my connection with the use of Petroleum as fuel, and this being the first leisure moment I shall improve my opportunity to answer your request.

In 1862, on my return from sea, I met Chief Engineer Wood and Stimers, who had been ordered, together with Chief Engineer Whipple, to investigate the practicability and economy of Shaw & Linton's patent for burning patroleum under boilers, instead of coal. As they spoke highly of it, I examined it. The oil was made to flow through the axis of a truncated cone, corrugated horizontally, and, running down the inclined surface, its passage was partially arrested by the circular lashes, until it was consumed. This was a very crude affair, but a ratio of 2 to 1 in heating power, as compared with coal, was established. In 1865, while detailed as Chief Marine Engineer on Gen. Hatch's staff, at Charleston, I had occasion to visit New York city. Some friends asked me to go with them and examine a new apparatus for burning petroleum. I found an ordinary grate, divided by a muffle, running from front to rear, and an ordinary light coal fire was burning, keeping the muffle hot. On letting on water and oil, by separate pipes, a sheet of flame, 40 or fifty feet long, issued from the muffle and passed through the flues, evolving great heat and generating steam quite rapidly. I immediately offered, in case they would furnish me with one muffle as a pattern, to build the others in the Government workshops at Charleston, S. C., and place them on board the Government transport, "De Kalb," being satisfied that it would increase her speed very materially. This was agreed to, but, owing to some disputes among the shareholders, I went back to duty without having a pattern, and, of course, the matter dropped.

Early in 1866, I resigned my commission as Chief Engineer in the United States Navy, and came to Boston, and engaged in engineering pursuits. In November I was called upon to visit and examine an apparatus for burning petroleum, invented by Col. Henry R. Foote, and was so much struck by the simplicity of its arrangement, the ease with which it was managed, and the completeness of the combination, that I spent nearly three hours in looking it over. I went several times afterwards, in company with other parties, to enjoy their surprise, and to examine it again. After some weeks, it was decided to apply to the United States Government to appoint a board to examine it, and I unhesitatingly wrote and signed a recommendation to the Secretary of the Navy. A board of Naval Engineers was ordered, they examined it, and their report was so favorable that orders were sent from the Bureau of Steam Engineering, placing at the disposal of Col. Foote the United States steamer Palos, to be fitted with his invention. A certain amount of money was also appropriated by Government for the expenses, and every facility in the way of tools, workshops and labor afforded him.

While Col. Foote was superintending the construction of his apparatus, a series of experiments with coal were made on the Palos by orders from the Government. In the first experiment, fires were lighted under one boiler only, and the coal was limited to eight pounds per square foot of grate surface; but after running the engines fifty-five minutes the steam had fallen so low that the engines stopped, there being only five pounds pressure in the boiler. It was then determined to use both boilers, with eight pounds of grate surface per hour, which was done, the experiment lasting for three days consecutively. Every pound of coal was weighed, and every ounce of water measured. The engines made thirty-three revolutions per minute, and steam was carried at thirty pounds by throttling closely. The evaporation was very good, giving between seven and eight pounds of water per pound of coal. After thoroughly cleaning the flues the last experiment was commenced, and continued also for three days. There was no limit to the coal, but only thirty-six revolutions could be obtained from the engines, and the evaporation only slightly increased, being about eight pounds of water per pound of coal.

On the 21st of March, Col. Foote's apparatus having been fitted to the Palos, fires were lighted under one boiler; steam was rapidly generated, and the engine driven at thirty-four revolutions, with thirty pounds of steam, for nearly three hours, when we extinguished the fires to make some needed changes. All felt well satisfied with the first trial—as it was not to be expected that the apparatus could be perfectly proportioned at the first, and it was assumed from the first that the fires would have to be lighted a few hours at a time, for several days before the apparatus could be pronounced to be perfectly adjusted. On Thursday, the 4th of April, the fires were lighted under both boilers, and, in forty-seven minutes from lighting the first fire, we had thirty pounds of steam, and started the engines; and although the throttle was wide open, and the engines were making fifty revolutions, the steam increased, and we were obliged to shut off two of the fires; but the engine still kept up her revolutions, and the steam held steadily. On comparing the number of pounds of oil used, to the number of pounds of coal needed to produce the same effect, as ascertained by former experiments, the ratio was found to be one pound of oil to eight of coal.

We are now daily making changes and lighting fires to see the effect of the alterations, and at at this moment burning less than half the oil, with the same effect as regards the quantity of water evaporated.

I am, yours very truly,
G. B. N. Tower,
Late Chief Engineer U. S. Navy.

Cholera.

A correspondent of the Pittsburgh Commercial of the 10th inst., writing on board the "Great Republic" from Cairo, Ill., says:

After our departure from Helena, Ark., I was informed by a gentleman who came on board our boat at that place, that the cholera was raging to a fearful extent in the town and immediate neighborhood. Sixteen cases had proven fatal the day before, and the malady was spreading rapidly. The disease has thus far been almost exclusively confined to the poorer class of negroes, who, owing to the overflow of the land, have been compelled to live on fish and such other matter as the flood brought to them. I have no doubt but that there will be a considerable sickness all along the river, caused by the vast amount of decaying vegetable matter which has been deposited by the high water. Our passengers were mostly in ignorance of the existence of the disease anywhere near them.

All those members of the Drake and Star Base Ball Clubs that are in favor of consolidation, will please meet at the room of the Drake Club this evening.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

Office of the Morning Herald, Titusville, April 17, 1867.

The Petroleum market is active with a decided advance in some localities of from 3 to 15 cents from our previous quotations. The comparatively active state of the market to-day was caused by some of the buyers who have contracts to fill wishing to purchase before a farther advance should take place. The advance in prices which took place to-day was mainly owing to many of the producers having but a small amount of oil remaining unsold. In consequence of the good boating condition of the Creek and River there was considerable inquiry for the Pittsburgh market. The New York and Cleveland buyers were also in to some extent. On Church Run oil of 45 gr. is held at $2.25 at the wells. Pithole oil of 47 gravity is now held at $2.50 delivered on the cars at Titusville. The sales are 1,000 bbls on Pioneer Run for the Cleveland market, 47 gr., at $2.40 delivered on the cars; 400 bbls. at Pithole delivered on the cars at Titusville for the New York market, 47 gr., at $2.15; three car loads on Pioneer Run for the Cleveland market, 47 gr., at $2.25 delivered on the cars; 1,000 bbls. on the Stevenson Farm by the Ocean Oil Company yesterday, for the New York market, 47 gr., at $2.20 at the wells; five car loads on Pioneer Run for the Cleveland market, 47 gr., at $2.40 delivered on the cars; 600 bbls. on Upper Cherry Run for the New York market, 47 gr., at $2.25 at the wells; 1,000 bbls. on the Stevenson Farm by the Ocean Oil Company for the Cleveland market, 47 gr., at $2.25 at the wells.

The amount and destination of Petroleum reported purchased to-day between Titusville and the Hyde & Egbert Farm, were as follows:

To New York bbls	1400
To Cleveland	2640
To Pittsburgh	—
To other points	—
Total	4040

The shipments over the Oil Creek Railroad from Titusville April 16th, were as follows:

To New York, bbls	—
To Cleveland	—
To other points	420
Total bbls	420

The following are our quotations to-day:

American Hotel—To the Public.—I take pleasure in announcing that on the 8th of April I shall re-open the American Hotel and resume its management in person. The house will be thoroughly refitted and put in good order to accomodate in the best manner, those who may give it their patronage. If it has been my good fortune from long experience and care to be considered generally successful in the effort to give satisfaction, I would say that my exertions for that purpose shall be doubled and that all my old friends, who, knowing me well, and as many new ones as may see fit to come, can find a good stopping place in Titusville at the "American" with
S. M. MILLS.

Snow's Patent Liquid Packing Pump for Oil Wells.—This celebrated "Pump" having been most successfully and generally used in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, and bearing a fame unsurpassed for its durability and wear, and the general good results of its application, doing away with leather and all other flexible packing, thereby avoiding the perplexities of a leather packing valve, and having all the advantages of other pumps and valves in bringing and keeping up the production of oil, I take pleasure in announcing to the public that I am now prepared to furnish any demand for these Pumps at the shortest notice. Below I give a few of the numerous testimonials I have received in their favor, and also "by permission," refer for information as to their durability, and general good results to H. W. Fancett, Superintendent of Philadelphia Petroleum Company, using them in every pumping well belonging to the Company; W. J. Runcie, Superintendent of lease 33, Benhoff Run; J. P. Fowler, Superintendent of New York & Chicago Petroleum Company; C. L. I. Wheant, Church Run; Wm. Spence, Benhoff Run; Mr. J. Roupe, Superintendent of Benhoff Run Petroleum Company; E. L. Pitcher, Superintendent of National Oil Company; C. H. Page, Superintendent Ocean Oil Company.

TESTIMONIALS.

West Pithole, Pa., Nov. 21, 1866.

William B. Snow, Esq.—Dear Sir: In answer to your request for my experience with your pump, I cheerfully state that I have used one of them for about two months and have found them entirely reliable, having performed all the requirements that was claimed for them.

The entire absence of leather packing and consequent lessening of friction in the working barrels makes the strain on the sucker rods much less, which is a great consideration in pumping deep wells, and I cheerfully recommend them to those having such.

Yours, respectfully,
Edwin L. Pitcher,
Superintendent National Oil Company.

Benhoff Run, Nov. 21, 1866.

W. B. Snow—Dear Sir: In reply to yours, asking for a "correct" statement as to the use of your pump on this farm, I cheerfully certify that on the 15th of August last I applied one of your pumps to well 20, belonging to the Benhoff Run Petroleum Company, which had been pumping four weeks with a brass working barrel and "reaming," about forty barrels a day. On the application of the "Snow Pump" the well increased to over one hundred barrels per day, and has been pumping at that rate ever since without ever having drawn the sucker rods to this date.

I also certify that I have three of your pumps in my own wells, viz: Nos. 51, "23" and 2, which have worked to my entire satisfaction, giving little or no trouble with drawing sucker rods. No. "23" is this morning producing at the rate of one hundred barrels per day.

Yours, very truly, Wm Speece.

Titusville, Dec. 20, 1866.

W. B. Snow, Esq.—Dear Sir: I can cheerfully certify in all of your very valuable Pump I bought of Bryan, Dillingham & Co., having previously tried all manner of patent valves, with no apparent success. I found that your pump increased my well over one-half, and considering the low price of oil, which it takes a large production to pay expenses, I consider your pump invaluable. If another could not be procured I would not take $500 for it. R. W. HOLBROOK,
Supt. N. Y. & Providence Lease Co.

Orders for these Pumps will be filled by addressing BRYAN, DILLINGHAM & CO., Sole Manufacturers, Titusville, Pa., and forwarded by express to all parts of the oil regions.

Napoleon was driving, the other day, from the Tuileries to the Exposition building in his wagonnette, attended by General Fleury, when he was stopped in the Rue de Grenelle by the wretched and almost impassable condition of the streets. He got down, discussed the state of things with some householders who were standing at their shop doors, and, after hearing all their complaints, drove home. The next morning the street was invaded by 500 workmen, and in a few hours everything was restored to rights.

During the war General Forrest had twenty-eight horses killed outright under him without counting those wounded.

Halab ab Nagar being asked what was the most excellent thing in man, replied, "Sense." But if he has none, what is the best then? "Honesty." If he has not that? "The counsel of his friends," replied the doctor. And in want of that? "Taciturnity." And if he cannot have any of these things? "A sudden death as soon as possible."

George Peabody will leave for Europe the 1st of May. The presentation of the picture of the Queen, sent hither to him by her Majesty, will be made in Washington by the British Minister. Ultimately the portrait will be placed in the Peabody Institute of South Danvers. The Empress Eugenie has likewise complimented the philanthropist with an autograph letter, thanking him for his unexampled liberality on both sides of the Atlantic.

Rev. Dr. M. B. Anderson, President of the University of Rochester, has been offered the Presidency of Brown University, vacated by the recent resignation of Dr. Sears. Dr. Anderson's decision is not yet made known.

The following story of the drunken ex-Senator McDougall, of California is said to be veritable. He was discovered one evening lying in the street gutters of Washington, thoroughly inebriated. The person finding him, inquired, after rousing him, "Who are you?" With drunken gravity, the prostrate Senator replied, "When—I—came here, [hic] I was—McDougall; but now [hic] I'm severed."

A gentleman was describing to Douglas Jerrold the story of his courtship and marriage—how his wife had been brought up in a convent, and was on the point of taking the veil, when his presence burst upon her enraptured sight, and she accepted him as her husband. Jerrold listened to the end of the story, and then quietly remarked: "She simply thought you better than nun."

The late Dr. Livingstone's son served in our war under the name of Rupert Vincent, as a private in a New Hampshire regiment. He was discharged through the mediation of Earl Russell.

The trichina spiralis has appeared in Great Barrington, Mass., three sons of Killon Smith, being the victims. The symptoms of the disease are clearly marked, and all the physicians in the vicinity and the Pittsfield Professors pronounce it a genuine case, but it is hoped by timely treatment the patients will recover. They had been eating raw ham, cured by Mr. Smith himself from a hog of his own raising. If this dread disease is to become common the only safe way will be to follow the advice of physiologists and let pork entirely alone.

ELLIPTIC SEWING MACHINE.

Highest Premiums, New York and Pennsylvania State Fairs, 1866.

Report of Committee on Sewing Machines, at New York State Fair:

"We, the Committee on Sewing Machines, after a careful and thorough investigation into the respective merits of the various machines submitted for examination, find the Elliptic Lock-Stitch Sewing Machine to be

SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS

In the following points, namely:

Simplicity and Thoroughness of Mechanical Construction.

Ease of Operation and Management.

Noiselessness and Rapidity of Movement.

Beauty, Strength and Elasticity of Stitch.

Variety and Perfection of Attachments, and Range of Work.

Compactness and Beauty of Model and Finish.

Adaptation to Material of any Thickness, by an Adjustable Feed-Bar, and in the Unequaled Precision with which it Executes the Lock-Stitch, by means of the Elliptic Hook, and we therefore award it the First Premium as the BEST FAMILY SEWING MACHINE, and also, for the above reasons, the First Premium as the BEST DOUBLE-THREAD SEWING MACHINE." FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS,

AND DEALERS IN

Government and other Desirable Securities,

NO. 5 NASSAU STREET, N. Y., recommend to investors the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

OF THE

Central Pacific R. R. Co.

This Company is constructing under the patronage of the United States Government

the Western end of the Great National Railway across the Continent.

Their line will extend from Sacramento, California, across the Sierra Nevadas to the California State line, traversing the RICHEST AND MOST POPULOUS SECTION OF CALIFORNIA, and thence through the GREAT MINING REGIONS OF THE TERRITORIES, to the vicinity of Salt Lake City.

It forms the SOLE WESTERN LINK of the only route to the Pacific which is adopted by Congress and aided by the issue of UNITED STATES BONDS.

Their road is already completed, equipped and running for 94 miles from Sacramento to within 12 miles of the summit of the Sierras, and a large amount of the work of Grading, Tunnelling, &c., beyond that point has been accomplished.

The FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS of this Company afford unusual inducements of Safety and Profit to Investors, for the following among other reasons, viz.:

First. The rate of interest is SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD, payable semi-annually in the City of New York.

Second. The PRINCIPAL is payable in GOLD at maturity.

Third. The cost of the Bonds, NINETY-FIVE PER CENT. and accrued interest, is TEN PER CENT. less than that of the cheapest Six Per Cent. Gold Bearing Bonds of the Government.

Fourth. The UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PROVIDES NEARLY HALF THE AMOUNT NECESSARY TO BUILD THE ENTIRE ROAD, AND LOOKS MAINLY TO A SMALL PERCENTAGE ON THE FUTURE TRAFFIC FOR RE-PAYMENT.

Fifth. Owing to this liberal provision, accompanied with EXTENSIVE GRANTS OF PUBLIC LANDS, by which the Government fosters this great national enterprise, ITS SUCCESS IS RENDERED CERTAIN, AND ITS FINANCIAL STABILITY IS ALTOGETHER INDEPENDENT OF THE CONTINGENCIES WHICH ATTEND ORDINARY RAILROAD ENTERPRISES.

Sixth. The Security of its FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS is therefore AMPLE, and their character for safety and reliability is equalled only by that of the obligations of the GOVERNMENT itself.

Seventh. The net earnings of the completed portion are ALREADY LARGELY IN EXCESS OF THE INTEREST OBLIGATIONS WHICH THE COMPANY WILL INCUR ON TWICE THE DISTANCE, and are steadily increasing, rendering the UNINTERRUPTED PAYMENT OF THE INTEREST ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN.

Eighth. At the present rate of Gold they pay nearly 8½ Per Cent. per annum, on the amount invested.

The Bonds are issued in denominations of $1,000 with semi-annually Gold Coupons attached, payable in New York, and are offered for the present at 95 per cent. and accrued interest (in currency) from January first.

Orders may be forwarded to us direct, or through the principal Banks and Bankers in all parts of the country.

Remittances may be made in drafts on New York, or in Legal Tender Notes, National Bank Notes, or other funds current in this city, and the Bonds will be forwarded to any address by Express, free of charge. Inquiries for further particulars, by mail or otherwise, will receive punctual attendance.
